

Keynote Speaker Bios

Florence Hudson is Executive Director and Principal Investigator for the NSF and NIH funded Northeast Big Data Innovation Hub at Columbia University, COVID Information Commons, Cybersecurity Risk Conference and National Student Data Corps. She is also Founder and CEO of FDHint, LLC, a global advanced technology and diversity & inclusion consulting firm, a former IBM Vice President and Chief Technology Officer, Internet2 Senior Vice President and Chief Innovation Officer, Special Advisor for the NSF Cybersecurity Center of Excellence, and aerospace engineer at the NASA Jet Propulsion Lab and Grumman Aerospace Corporation. She earned her Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering degree from Princeton University, and executive education certificates from Harvard Business School and Columbia University.

Laurie Allen is the Chief of the Digital Innovation Division in the Office of the Chief Information Officer at the Library of Congress, where she leads a team devoted to lowering barriers to innovation, evaluating emerging tools and approaches, and engaging new perspectives and partners. She joined the Library in 2019, after working for nearly 20 years in academic libraries, most recently as the Director of Digital Scholarship at the University of Pennsylvania Libraries. Laurie has a Masters in LIS from Simmons College. When she's not working (and even when she is), Laurie is a lifelong and devoted Philadelphian.